Everybony plays on Hallowsen night. It may be the aubits alchemy of a witch-deluged atmosphere, the prompting of an inangination quickened by the devisite strins of pumpkin head and black cat or marely the deliberate and temporary belief in powers of divination with which the least of these are traditionally supposed to be endowed, given the proper incantalions and environment of mitror and parings. But everybindly is ready to believe anything, to listen to anybody and to do e lot. It ham't been so long age that the playful youth expressed exhiberance by carrying off gates, parking cows in the church belify or coyly turning upside down everything that is movable. They probably do yet. Certainly the heart-rending affairs that rip across the windows and that were invented in some unfortunate moment by someone with more energy than brains still find a place in Hallowen echoration. But there are those paperful gains whose inclinations hold them by an open fireplace, supplemented by nuts and nothing more dangerous than apples that are to be earned by plusing more organization work. The Parific head and walking backwards down the cellar stairs and other kingle.

But all of those things, together with the custom of stalking, white sheeted, through the streets, come from the ancient belief that spirits of the visible world free themselves from all ties that bind them and wander up and down the earth on Halloween, or All Hallows Eve. An enlightened age has robbed the before the sheeted, through the streets, come from all ties that bind them and wander up and down the earth on Halloween, or All Hallows Eve. the motion of the organization.

The colorful fantastically garbed crowds were a gorgeous panorama that shifted back and forth, back and forth through the streets antilliong past midnight. Everybody was having a grand, gay time.

This year there is going to be some place to go. Nobody cared because everybody was having a grand, gay time.

This year there is going to be some place to go. Talka is going to inject into its Halloween celebration something of the community spirit that is coloring its activities along various other lines. Knowing that Tulea people, as a city, and work together, plan together, too.

Civitan Plans Party.

These men are the members of the Civitan ciub, and the city to come to its Halloween party. There is going to be music, and light, and color, and fun, dancing and frailoking and managines and brough of the active to come to its Halloween party. There is going to be music, and light, and color, and fun, dancing and frailoking and managines and brough of it all a generous thought for "the least of these." The party will be down town.
